

0-521P21

DANCING ON THE ROOF - - Pupils of a Parisian dancing school give graceful display high above the heart of Paris.

---

Picture.:- Although not mathematicians, Parisian girls do lots of figure work. They specialize in subtraction. Addition is their--

--bete noir. On a hotel terrace, high above the Boulevards, these young girls are being brought up in the way they should grow, with exercises copied from the graceful evolutions--

--of the maidens of ancient Greece. They keep their bodies supple, shapely and free from curves which are so distressing in the wrong places.

It's very hard work, but look at the--

--suffering it saves in later years--

--when visiting the dress-maker. Mademoiselle Jolly--

--is a strict disciplinarian and allows no shirking during physical education. If your waist line has disappeared, this movement will help you to find it. These classes attract much attention,--

--and are part of the official--

--educational curriculum. Skipping is a wonderful exercise for all round, or too round reducing. Well, I must be skipping !