CYCLISTS' HILL CLIMB --. Nearly 100 pedal pushers compete for English championship at Brasted Hill.

-Kent-

---

Picture.:- There are still at least one hundred cyclists who prefer to push a bike rather than-- --let a bike push them. The-- --38th annual hill climb for pedal cyclists, draws--

--a crowd of starters and supporters. It's not-- --the length of the course which matters, but the gradient ! At-- --one point, the rise is one in four for--

--six hundred yards. For a hill like that, Brasted-- --doesn't sound right. Some of the riders will--

--pronounce it differently before the finish. E.W.
Hussey--

--wins the contest. Good luck ! Good lad !
