OUR SWEDISH VISITOR - - Officers and cadets of Sweden's training cruiser "Fylgia" visit H.M.S.
Victory and Nelson, at Portsmouth.

-Hampshire-

Picture.:- The Swedish cruiser "Fylgia" berths at Portsmouth.
A foreigner, which pays frequent friendly visits--

--to Britain. She is used as a training ship--

--for cadets entering the Swedish Navy, and Portsmouth is-- --one of her favourite ports of call. It stimulates officers and cadets alike to visit--

--the old 'Victory', and stand on the spot where the great Nelson fell.

For the spirit of Nelson is universally revered by-- --seamen the world over. The contrast between his old flag ship, from which he--

--directed so many victorious battles and the great modern--

--ship named after him, is very impressive. The Swedish--

--vessel is a small armoured cruiser of five thousand--

--tons, with a complement of officers, cadets, warrant officers and men--

--numbering three hundred and eighty. A program of shore visits and entertainments has been--

--arranged for them before they put to sea again next week and sail for Gibraltar.

MUSIC UP to END WITH SWEDISH NATIONAL ANTHEM.
