THE PRINCE IN WALES - His Royal Highness receives a cordial welcome on visiting his own principality.
- Porth and Pentypridd.-

Picture:- The Prince of Wales renews his acquaintance with his own Principality. At Perth he lays a memorial wreath on the local Cenetaph.

CHOIR SINGING

Hundreds of Welsh exservicemen turn out to -- -- salute "our Prince" as they affectionately call him, on their march past. This is a hard-hit area and -- -- the Royal visit indicates yet again the Throne's -- -- unfailing sympathy with ex-servicemen and the unemployed --
-- at Pentypridd. Crowds cheer the Prince's arrival at Taff Vale Park --
-- to witness a Rugby match between teams selected from the Welsh Guards and the -- -- Glamorgan Police. He is himself a keen Rugby enthusiast !

MILITARY BAND

During the interval he chats easily with players of the opposing teams. It -- -- is said that he is never happier than when among the men of -- -- the Welsh Guards. Some time ago, His Royal Highness promised a miner that he would -- -- visit the district and today's programme is the fulfilment of that promise !
