Picture:- Three hundred young soldiers at play ! Physical exercises are a popular and pleasant game at the Army Physical Training School. The men take a pride in attaining perfection of-- --movement and rhythm. The display is part--

--of their annual Assault-at-Arms, to which their friends may be invited. The principal function of these exercises is not to develop muscle, but to increase concentration and the speed of mental reactions. The authorities' view is that a well-equipped body with a weak brain is of very little use to the nation; a stout brain and a weak body may be a little more use, but by developing both mind and muscle side by side, the finest result is achieved.

Privileged visitors show keen interest in the--

--display, which display is typical of peace training throughout all branches of the Army.
