

285521

A HARD ROAD - - Opening of new tunnel road cut through 565-feet of solid rock between Conway and Penmaenmawr.

-N.Wales-

---

Picture.:- For years past the safety of the old rocky coast road between Conway and Penmaenmawr has been doubtful. On several occasions the road has been made impossible by falls of--

--rock. This new tunnel does away with the need--

--to use the old road. It is opened--

--by Mr. Richard Williams, chairman of the Carnarvonshire County Council which-- --has been responsible for the work. The tunnel, five--

--hundred and sixty-five feet long, has been cut from the solid rock--

--of the mountainous headland. A small job which has--

--cost some sixty-thousand pounds. The enterprise is--

--a portion of the general scheme of--

--North Wales coast road improvement. That's good news for motorists, look you !