THEIR ANNUAL TREAT -- Aged inmates of the Home of Rest for Horses receive welcome tit-bits from sympathetic visitors.

Picture.:- This is where a lot of good deeds are done which we hear little about. Bearded Old--

--Roger rings for his meal. He was found on the--

--Some battlefield and like the others was brought to this Home of Rest for Horses--

--to finish his days in peace. To-day is the first--

--visiting day of the New Year, and the horses get thoroughly petted and fed--

--with tasty dainties as a treat. A nice chump 1, but lacking in table manners. At-- --this season animal lovers and supporters of the Home contribute to a special fund to provide the nags with-- --a New Year's dinner. The menu includes apples, carrots and sugar - - well,--

-- I suppose horses are entitled to enjoy indigestion once a year the same as human folk.
