

2-288/281

SALMON FISHING - Ceremonial opening of the Loch Tay season by enthusiastic fishermen at Kenmore.
- Scotland -

Picture:- Bright weather opens the Salmon Fishing season at Loch Tay. This group of fishermen outside --

-- the inn at Kenmore, have just come from inside the inn at Kenmore.

Heartened and warmed by the wine of the country,
they march to the pier head with cheerful optimism --

-- and fishing rods rampant. They're all practised fishers.
It takes --

-- skill to hook a salmon ! The oldest boatman smashes a bottle of whiskey or whiskey bottle, and the piper continues --

-- playing. These two events ought to make the fish willing to submit quietly.

The oldest boatman has fished the Loch for sixty years !
The tales he can tell are wonderful -- if you could only believe them !