

THE TROUBLED EAST - - Authentic pictures of Chinese attempt to stem the advance of Japanese forces at Shanhaikwan.

-China-

Picture:- Chinese troops still pour up the--
--lines, in their useless attempt to stem the advance of the-- --victorious Japs. This is near Shanhaikwan at the end of the Great Wall, where a strong entrenched--
--position is being prepared for a stand. Colonel Yang--
--personally directs operations while waiting--
--for the next Japanese--
--attack. This is an important point,--
--so General Ho-Chu-Kwo comes to have a look-round.

Dear me ! The air is very strong in these parts.
Is it success that's gone to his head ?

Anyway he shares--

--all the discomforts of --

--his men in the-- --front line. The attack is actually starting.

(EFFECTS OVER THIS AND FOUR SHOTS)

Can't we ever do without all this sort of thing ?