HIGH SEAS - - Great gale strikes the South Coast, presenting awesome pictures of the sea in angry mood.

-Sussex-

Picture.:- The gale-blown seas provide some picturesque motion studies for our cameraman at Hastings and St. Leonard's. Ton after--

--ton of green waters viciously hurl themselves over the-- --promenade, flooding the road, and swamping everybody and thing near it. Motor cars get a free wash !

High-spirited girls get thrilled and damped at the same time ! Just dodged that one !

They came down to get a change, and they need one now ! They're simply dripping with salt sea and excitement.

The high waves batter on the sea-wall until the ground vibrates with the force of the attack.

A great day for paddling ! A bathing costume would be cold, but no less wet--

--and clinging than what they're wearing ! Never mind, ducks like the water ! The mountainous seas are--

--awesome, majestic, and thrilling too ! The little dog laughed to see such fun, and the girls ran home to get changed.

HEAVY GALES - -

But no-one laughed about this ! The same gale wrecked Southend's Pier--

--by blowing a heavy barge slap through the middle of it. The force of the-- --impact twisted girders and splintered staunchions.

A notice now reads "Pier closed for repairs !"
