Picture.:- England Versus Scotland at Murrayfield provides excitement for some seventy-thousand people, most of whom--

--were Scotsmen. At Twickenham, last year, England won, so they appear to-day--

--as holders of the Calcutta Cup, but the Scottish team--

--is backed by the optimism of a rearing Scottish crowd.

The Scotsmen start with a wonderful dash. The English back tackles well, and ends that run.

The line-out gives England a slight opportunity but nothing is made of it. Spoilt by loose play.

England battles hard, but makes little headway. Just look at the crowd. Must be a record !

Another fine English tackle stops a raid on their goal. The Scotsmen seem to be--

--cooling off a bit, but the crowd--

--thinks it's good. The ball goes into the scrum and is out again ! England's got it ! But the Scots are now getting--

--the game in hand. Scotland's got it again ! Oh ! Bad luck ! The ground is very treacherous now. Scotland wins--

--three points to nil. It's a wet day, and now it's going to be wetter.
