

ALL ALIVE 'O !

Authorities ensure good sport for anglers by stocking the canal at Pantin with fish.

-Near Paris-

Picture.:-

The march of the happy fishermen ! A ton of-- --fish is first caught for them - - fish that will make a sporting wriggle at the end of any line. Perch, pike, bream, barbel, and others fishermen dream about, and --
--lie about too. In fact, this load ought to keep light the burden of many an angler's sins.

With all these piscatorial prizes, plopped into the Canal ready to be--

--hooked, there should be no need for fishy--

--fairy stories. If fishers can't persuade some amongst--

--these thousands to swallow their bait, the rod--

--should be taken out of their hands and laid across their backs.

Why, it's a gift ! So simple ! There must be a 'catch' in it somewhere !
