The great celebration of the 8th Anniversary of the foundation of the Royal Italian Air Force.

Signor Mussolini presents medals and gives the customary salute--

--on both cheeks to officers, men, or their relatives who--

--won distinction by acts of great valor. Bandits of-- --Tripoli keep this Force busy even in-- --times of general peace. The Duce, with the Air Army Minister, Italo Balbo, at his side,--

--reviews the four-thousand pilots who claim to be members of the most efficient Air Force of its kind in the world.

With Signor Mussolini, we hope that there will never be cause to contest the claim except maybe on paper at Geneva.
