WHEN THE EARTH ROCKED - - Northern Japan experiences terrific earthquake, bringing death to 15,00 people and devastation to many towns.

Following close upon the Californian earthquake, come these pictures of Japan's latest disaster. This time, a terrific earthquake is followed by fire--

--and a tidal wave. A dread sequence of events which took a toll of--

--fifteen-hundred dead and wiped out one hundred towns.

Four-thousand more people are injured, or missing.

In the smoking ruins, survivors search for personal treasures--

--while wee kiddies dig in the ashes with-- --their hands to recover lost play-things or what remains--

--of them. This boat was washed three miles inland--

--by the tidal wave which destroyed more than twelve-thousand--

--houses. And the next day, the homeless people started rebuilding. How's that for pluck ?
