END OF A MENACE -- Old oil-tanker, declared a danger to shipping, set ablaze on a California Beach.

-Hunters Point-

Picture.

For thirty-one years this old oil-ship buffeted or waddled her way up and down the Western Sea Board of America. Now, although sea-worthy,--

--she's getting her taste --

--of infernal heat before going to her last resting place.

The authorities have ruled that her oil-soaked hull --

-- is a fire menace to herself, and every port on her visiting--

--list. Better this, than accidentally making a sailors' inferno at sea.
