"AIRMADA" IN NEW YORK -- General Balbo's "flying fleet" receives tumultuous welcome from vast crowds.

-U.S.A.-

Picture.:-

New York's millions thrill at the sight of General Balbo's mighty aerial armada, as it passes over the Island of Manhattan. Twenty-four beautiful seaplanes manned by a hundred bachelor airmen.

The big 'flying fleet' has now completed seven-thousand-one-hundred miles since it--

--left Italy.

(WATER RUSH EFFECT TO END OF SHOT).

With the grace of seagulls they 'land' on the water of Jamaica Bay. When the whole twenty-four have come to rest--

--they make a very wonderful picture lined up in single file just off Floyd Bennett flying field.

Every Italian in New York--

--is here to greet the great national heroes. It's Italy's --

--day! ... And don't they let the world know it!
(CROWD EFFECT TO END OF SHOT).

(CROWD EFFECT).

We all join Italy in saluting the General and his heroic band. (CROWD EFFECT TO END OF SHOT).
