WARM AND WET - - Record spell of torrid weather proves very trying to some kiddies - - but not to others.

-Ilford. Essex-

Picture. (a) What does one do with kids, when they cry ? ||

(b) Soothe them, ~~the~~ dummy !

(a) I haven't got one.

(b) I expect they're thirsty.

(a) Guess again. ||

(b) With the weather at 96 in the shade, you're sometimes || peevish

(a) But I never refuse a drink. Neither does that little fellow ! ||

(b) Well bless the ^{authorities} ~~Govt.~~ for bathing pools, say I. ~~||~~

Isn't that sweet.

(a) No, just ordinary cows milk I believe. ||

(b) The heat wave has sent holiday children in their hundreds to the bathing pools with untiring activity. || ---

(a) Awkward pause. There's nobody at home here.

(b) Children take naturally to water, and enjoy
nothing better than a bath. ||

(a) er - - sorry - - all except that one. Your move ! ||

(b) If unable to attend the recognised bathing pools, happy-- ||

--fathers may easily arrange charming substitutes in the garden-- ||

--however small.

(a) Another article by happy mother in next week's back chat.
