THE KING'S HOLIDAY - - His Majesty arrives at Ballater on his way to Balmoral for much needed holiday.

-Scotland-

Picture:-

The King arrives at Ballater en route for Balmoral Castle. His Majesty was received by the Marquis of Aberdeen, that grand old man of Scotland, of whose witty conversations I cherish delightful memories.

The King, who is accompanied by Prince George, inspects the Guard of Honour of Second Cameronians. His Majesty looks fit and well. His dress is the picturesque hunting Stewart tartan.

(CROWD EFFECT).

Their Majesties' life at Balmoral (the Queen is expected on Monday) is of the-- --simplest kind. But few guests are entertained;--

--the King's chief interest lying in his farmstead and grouse coverts.
