

GUNNERS HOLIDAY

Horse Field, and Light Artillery complete for the King's Prize at Larkhill Salisbury Plains.

Wilts.

Picture. Moving off to compete for the King's prize Territorial artillery units reach the final stage in the contest. Five Batteries have earned the right to take part, they are from London, Birmingham Bolton Stoke-on-Trent and Glasgow.

Live shells are fired in this event. (SHOT)

A nicely packed box of trouble.

In goes another packet for the enemy (SHOT)

It's not only hits which count Efficiency in loading is most important point. Beautiful, sleek, shining beast of grey, these guns (SHOT)

One can understand why a good artilleryman loves his guns.

They have done their bit, and call it a day!

A necessary training. The entire responsibility for manning our coast defence rests with these territorial units.