STRATFORD-ON-AVON MOP FAIR.

Picture:- Tourists from the world over recognise this as Shakespeare's birth place.

Would they recognise this ? Same place, but different day ! Stratford's historic Mop Fair transforms the sedate streets--

--into a riot of good humoured fun. A whole ox is--

--roasted in the Rother Market. I don't know what you think, but I prefer to see--

--my beef in smaller portions. Not quite so obviously--

--cow. The chef, Mr.Tyler, is the champion ox-roaster--

--of Stratford. The rush of buyers proves the popularity of his skill.

If anyone wants a cut off the joint, speak now, or you'll never hold your piece. Or if you--

--prefer it , have some pork ! The pig is too far gone to mind either way. It smells most savoury, but I am agreeing with you that it looks, well, most peculiar !
