LANDSLIDE AT PAKEFIELD.

Picture.:-

How long will this village of Pakefield, near Lowestoft, be on the map ?

That's what anxious inhabitants are asking themselves. Old Man Sea has eaten away practically-- --the last few yards of the cottage back-gardens. He's--

--swallowed most of the out-houses, and his next bite is expected-- --to be a row of nice crumbled cottages. The owners are saving tiles to build their next roofs, and it won't-- be on the cliff edge this time. When holiday-makers from Lowestoft visit this old world--

--spot next summer, they will probably have to dive to find their favourite tea-gardens, and--

--be served by fish-tailed mermaids dressed in a spot--

--or two of watered silk. Special holiday attraction. What a draw !
