Picture.:- Sixty years ago Sir James Barrie was-- --a shy student at Edinburgh University. To-day he is its Chancellor, wishing his Alma Mater many happy returns of-- --her 350th anniversary. He is to speak-- --at to-day's capping ceremony. His 'Peter Pan' speeches usually cap anything anyway.

Picture.:-

There are female watchers over the Bank of England who get-- --no pay, and are on duty day and night.
They are ladies of solid character who make no advances--
--to anyone. In fact, like my-- --bank manager when an overdraft is suggested, they have got hearts of stone.

Picture.:- And talking of money, President Roosevelt decides to buy gold. If the other-- --nations decide to sell, I say if, Mr. Roosevelt should-- rechristen America Gold's own country.
