OLD CRACKS' RUN.

Picture.: -"Old Soldiers Never Die", and everyone of these motor--

--cars is a real old soldier. One has been running for thirtyseven years, and it's still -- --going, not very strong, but still going ! Kaye Don drives it, sucking a pipe, and expecting it to blow up--

--any minute. The car, I mean, not the pipe !

This old thing - - sorry, this old car is aged thirty-five years.

At Brixton Kaye Don starts speeding. Passes cars recklessly at-- --fifteen miles per hour. His pipe hasn't been rattled out of his mouth yet.

Number Seven - - born 1896, starts a climb. The breakdown lorry follows. Rather significant !

This run celebrates the abolition of the 2 miles per hour speed limit of 1896. Number Fifteen--

--bounces gaily, well bounces over the finishing line.

Hello ! One appears to have been guilty of a misdemeanour. The Police are running him in !

Well, that's the end of a(rattling' good day !
