SHIP SURGERY.

Picture.:- The fierce competition in international steamship bookings is providing German unemployed with work. One line--
--has decided to rebuild and enlarge its ships. It is-- --doing so by cutting them through the middle--
--amidship sounds better, and inserting another thick slice of ship between the-- --two parts. There's a huge liner in section.

A rare sight !Another interesting angle. This is-- --a view of the ship's internal structure. Notice the various floors of this floating hotel, with its hundreds of rooms to house those who for business or pleasure wander over the waters of the Seven Seas.

They have plenty of elbow room now !
