Picture.:- Children of the Shaftesbury Homes, Esher, prepare for Christmas--

--plays. Lord Trenchard's edict about moustaches is carefully noted,--

--and Dick Turpin does a comic turn.

There must be a Princess--

--or two about, and a double-dyed villain, the rascal !

The grown-ups are more serious in their play.

The new Bobbie, fresh from the Nursery directs the traffic--

--and guides the--

--angels to where their nativity production is being rehearsed. Then the two-thousand years-old story--

--is unveiled before the less lucky children.

King Herod and his Queen sit in ultra dignified state receiving--

--visitors. The news is brought--

--to them of the three Wise Men of the--

--East who follow a--

--mysterious star. The Wise Men with their--

--gifts, the adoring shepherds, Mary, The Holy Babe,--

--all are presented in reverent simplicity by these rich little poor children.
