

GOOD SCOUTS.

Picture.:-

A troop of good scouts - - with a difference !
 Scouts usually do their work by keen observation,--
 --but not one of these boys can see. They are-- --blind. By touch they perform accurately the-- --movement of extended formation.

They are watched by sightless--
 --comrades, who gain their impressions by an acute--
 --sense of hearing, and perhaps--
 --something of a sixth sense, of which those with eyes to see know nothing. Watch the-- --uncanny accuracy with which-- --they form the Union Jack, using--
 --rolls of coloured bunting.

This troops, members of the Yorkshire School for the Blind--
 --has produced the first blind scout--
 --in England to pass every test. This, and similar organisations, surely deserve full marks for excellent work.