GERMAN DIVING SCHOOL

Picture. :- Who wants to be a diver ? Here is a new sort of night school class held in the day-time. It is the--

--new German School for teaching diving. Thick woollen--

--undies are worn under the diving suit proper. It gets--

--cold a few fathoms deep. Before they actually do underwater work, the would-be diver's breathing--

--has to be carefully tested. It's not every man who can be a diver, and--

--it's not every man--

--who wants to be, either ! They are screwed down. Sounds a--

--gruesome business, and then - - well - - some people will try anything once. Down they go !, - - their heavy-laden foot weights assisting them to keep their balance.

While under water, the heavy--

--metal helmet makes it quite easy for them to turn upside down, which is - - well, not so good ! There's a novice coming up lying down ! I suppose it's a case of "So long, old man ! I'm going to drop in at the Diving School !"
