A HUNTING MORN.

Picture.:-

Pictures of a good old English sport ! Hunting the fox ! Of course, the fox has--

--brought all this upon himself ! If he will raid hen roosts--

--he must expect to be chased. It's a tribute to--

--Renard's cunning that he has caused men, women--

--children, horses and dogs to combine in dozens to catch--

--him. Well, it's either a credit to him, or no compliment--

--to the attacking forces. Anyway, here they all come, and if they can only--

--find that fox, he will be sorry he didn't stay at home with his family. His wife--

--will know. Every day of life, they have listened for the dread bay of hounds. Ready to bolt for cover !

In fox-hunting it's the fox who gets the real thrills - - dodging death !
