GETTING "ALL DOLLED

U.P."

Picture.:-

Once upon a time the one thing that kiddies hated most, except washing, was--

--getting a hair-cut. The good fairy of business efficiency has changed all that, and made it a short cut to happiness.

Lily would like a little music. Certainly !
Daisy--

--wishes to ride a horse while the barber - - er - - barberess - - lady barber - - or whatever they are called, snips off the straggly ends and--

--combs out the tangled kinks. Go easy, nurse !

A pleasant warm breeze dries the curly locks
after shampooing. Serumptious, isn't it ?

This lad is a diehard. He hates hair cuts.
Nasty snippy scissors dropping tickly hair down a fellow's back.

Hair washing is carried out in lazy comfort. Soap in the eyes, water--

--dripping off the end of one's nose is eliminated.

A few final touches, and the maiden auntie can say "What a beautiful child. Such lovely hair", and the--

--fond mother can reply. It's quite naturally glossy and curly.

Never any trouble." But wait a minute & This an insult--

--to any lady. But she's no lady. Ask if she likes it, and she says "Lather !"
