

PRINCE OF WALES IN YORKSHIRE.

Picture: Hull receives the Prince of Wales-- for his three-days lightning tour of Yorkshire. His engagements are so numerous that-- --it is impossible for us to detail them. There--

--he's leaving for somewhere else already.

At Winsecombe Handicraft Centre, the Prince looks in at an Ambulance Class, All the students are unemployed but--

--like most unemployed are anxious--

--to work at something whenever opportunity offers.

In fact, this whole tour of His Royal Highness is to get into --

--closer touch with the problem which-- --has, up to now, baffled the politicians. The-- --unemployed built this hut to help--

--themselves. The Prince, having expressed-- --himself with utter frankness about the housing problem--

--will have plenty of inside information personally gathered for--

--forming likewise definite opinions upon this-- --bugbear of the country. A quick visit to Beverley -- --and as far as our film is concerned an--

--equally quick arrival at Pontefract, thanks to the Editor's scissors.

Again more unemployed making work for themselves, while the girls--

--nearly mob the Prince in their eager loyalty. These are truly distressed areas and the --

Prince's admiration for those who so patiently bear their soul-lacking hardships is as sincere-- as it is well known.

Barnsley's new Civic Hall is opened by the Royal--
--Visitor, who enters and shortly afterwards delights the crowd--
--by a balcony appearance with--
--a miner's lantern. More democratic princes--
--than this one and his brothers, never walk in--
--shoe leather and to them the people's loyalty is readily given.
