

BOYS OF THE BULLDOG BREED.

Picture.:-

"There are great opportunities in the Navy". Thus spoke Vice-Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, Second Sea Lord, when addressing boys of the Training Ship Mercury. With Mrs. Fry, the School's Lady Director, Sir Dudley inspects the boys before-- --presenting them with end of--

--term prizes. "Thank goodness", said the gallant Admiral, "that the government has woken up and is going to do something for shipping". Vague, but cheery! Another one-- --of those occasions where we must "wait and see". Break away means a rush to smell--

--the Christmas pudding before stowing it away where it will help to keep their slacks up. Yo-ho ! Heave-ho ! Cheerio !
