"W E T " A M E R I C A .
WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE.
STORMS AND FLOODS.
-U.S.A.-

Picture.:- America has "gone wet" in more--
--senses than one. Since prohibition--
--went out, water has flowed like wine,--
--only even more so. Portland, Oregon--
--looks like a town in the middle of an ocean. Railroads--
--are a 'wash-out', and it's a case of--
--row, brothers, row,--
--if you want to go to places--
--and do things. Kent, in the State of Washington--
--is under the weather, too. And if the milk--
--looks watery, it's not the cows fault. In--
--the grocer's shop, the breakfast oats are just cold porridge.

The happy ones are the kidds. Young sailors who don't care.

And the Panama Canal--
--has a rough time. Eleven giant floodgates--
--have been opened to get the--
--water down to a safer--
--level, and relieve pressure on the great--
--Gatun Dam. That railway bridge may go, but the--
--Dam must be saved from dam-age. Sorry !
