AUSTRALIA V. ENGLAND.
RUGBY IN PARIS.
ENGLISH TEAM ROUTED.

An international rugby league match between England and Australia played in Paris. This is one of those sporting events about which the less said the better from England's point--

--of view. There were many difficulties. The ground--

--was frozen hard, so by mutual consent there was no tackling. When that had been arranged, Australia started taking over the entire game. They were so superior that all--

--England could attempt was to keep the score within-- --the limits of decency. Even so, Australia piled up 63 points against England's 13. An unlucky average -- one for each of the 13 players. Not -- er -- not so good !
