NEWS IN BRIEF.

Picture:- Another romantic landmark disappears. These bricks--

--were once Dick Turpin's house. In the cellar stable his famous, and perhaps fabulous mare--

--'Black Bess' was like her master, hidden from--

--the Bow Street runners. Turpin's alleged pistol and sword are-- --still treasured at the Spaniards' Inn. Despite the romance,

--today we should have sentenced Turpin as 'Plain Gangster'.
