ACTRESSES AT SCHOOL.

TUITION FOR PANTOMIME KIDDIES.
STAGE AS CLASSROOM.
-London-

Picture:- These school kiddies know all sorts of curious things. "Who's afraid of the big, bad, wolf?" That's easy!

"Does Grand-pa sleep with his whiskers - - oh! she knows that--

--too. It's their job to know all these things, but the authorities say--

--that's not enough, so nasty, dry, sums--

--must be done too. Perhaps, says Little Boy Blue --

--winking at the Fairy Queen.

These children, already professional performers, take their school--

-lessons to fit them for the world's stage on the--

--stage of the theatre. In one step they go from decimals to dancing--

--frog multiplication to mummung. The dawning of the stars. Baby Matheson--

--Langs and Leslie Hensons, Evelyn Layes, or Sibyl Thornalikes. Twinkling star-dust of the glamorous stage.
