Picture.:- Here is the culmination of a romance of science, industry and achievement. For the first--

--time the giant Southampton graving dock opens to consummate its purpose. There's drama in--

--the air as the towering 'MAJESTIC--

--slowly thrusts towards the entrance. Overhead the Universerial cameraman circles round the great ship securing unique pictures of the whole delicate operation. The world's largest vessel is approaching the world's largest dock. Inch by careful inch--

--the fifty-seven thousand tons ocean-monster, a graceful sleek monster--

--pushes her huge bows forward. Inch by inch--

--the virgin waters of the Dock divide to receive this colossus into its care. Hawser are seized-- --and taken by waiting men to the-- --warping points. Winches grown, flexible steel snakes grow taut, and further into the--

--Dock creeps the ship. The 'MAJESTIC' is gaily--

--dressed for the occasion. Fluttering bunting spans the space between her--

--tall masts. Officers watch for any slight course deviation.

Men, tugs, hawser and winch have now completed--

--the work. The great ship is docked. The last mooring balard is roped. All is O.K.
