

INTERNATIONAL RUGBY.

WALES V ENGLAND.
WIN FOR THE VISITORS.

-Cardiff-

Picture.:- Whatever the game is going to be--
--like there are nearly sixty-thousand people here--
--to see it. It's easily a record crowd for Wales.

There's some disappointment that Vivien Jenks is not on the field, but much is expected from a new--
--international player, Bryn Howells, a full-back from Llanelli.

The Welsh half-backs are light for their job, although they're--

--putting in a lot of good work. Both teams are mixing it a bit, and it's doubtful if the experts will bother to say that the match adds anything--

--to rugby history. Gadney, England, is a fine captain. He seems to be everywhere when he's wanted. In fact, England--

--is making the running, despite the smooth working--

--of the Welsh line. Rees, the Welsh back, is adding to his reputation. Once he gets away, he's a most difficult man to catch. No, to-day is not the Leeks' Day. England is on--

--top. Three tries to nothing. Not so good, Wales !
