

STORY OF TWO WRECKS.

RESCUE SHIP SINKS.
HARBOUR MOUTH BLOCKED.

-Scotland-

Picture.:-

Firmly wedged on the sharp-toothed rocks of the--
--Fifeshire coast lies the good ship "ROSEBERRY". A-- --broken propeller rendered her helpless against tide and wind.

The next tide may refloat her,--
--unless a gale serves her a dirty trick with dirty weather.
The rescue--

--tug "BULGER" came to the "ROSEBERRY'S" assistance, failed to move her, and--

--on the return journey--

--ran on a reef herself, near Anstruther Harbour, and sank.
Divers are at work--

--repairing the hole in her hull. This seems to have been Scottish ships' unlucky day.
