DICKENS' BIRTHDAY.

TABARD PLAYERS' CELEBRATION.
"DAVID COPPERFIELD" ON A LORRY.
-London-

---

Picture.:- The living spirit of the dead Charles Dickens still--

--speaks. David, and Dora, characters from the evergreen
DAVID COPPERFIELD--

--take their parts in the play produced on --

--the author's 122nd--

--anniversary. Macawber, goo, is amongst the party. He--

--was fat, if you remember ! Well, he still is.

A lorry in the courtyard of--

--the Old George Inn at Borough, S.E. is the stage--

--and the Tabard players keep Dickens' memory by these annual plays. Mr.Macawber is going to see--

--'if anything has turned up'.

Ah ! The villainous Emiah Heap. "Curse the little upstart. Little--

--does he know that I have got old Wickfield under my thumb".

And there's old Wickfield himself. Agnes is--

--the be-e-autiful daughter, and oh, all the old gang.
