

WELL AND TRULY MADE

UNIQUE FOUNDATION-STONE CEREMONY.
NOVEL ROLE FOR LORD DERBY.

-Wembley-

Picture.:-

This is to be the largest covered swimming-pool and sports arena in Britain.

The foundation stone ceremony is about to be performed.

Lord, Derby, the popular doyen of British sport (hope you've occasionally backed his winning horses) --

--has accepted the invitation to carry through the--

--somewhat novel ceremony. In these modern days of--

--concrete, hewn stone is becoming old-fashioned. Lord Derby pulls a cord which sets a concrete mixer in motion. Thereafter a gallon--

--or two of--

--liquid stone drops into a mould. This foundation stone is--

---therefore not laid, but made. In Lord Derby's --

--own words "I declare this stone well and truly made." It causes the distinguished--

--crowd to smile, and the little dog, too.

A cut of His Lordship's family crest is pressed on--

--the soft concrete and the job is done. Five-hundred Empire athletes will inaugurate this great--

--Wembley enterprise at the British Empire Games Meeting in August.