MILITARY GUARD FOR JUDGE.
ANCIENT CEREMONIAL AT INVARARAY.

-Scotland-

Picture.:-

Out of the tiny hotel at Inveraray comes Lord Wark, one of His Majesty's judges. To-day he presides over--
--the first High Court held in the small Scottish--
--town for 26 years. His Lordship inspects the guard of-- --honour and proceeds in ceremonial procession to the little Courthouse. Here the drama which has called--
--the Court together will be unfolded. Accommodation in the tiny--
--Courthouse is quite inadequate to hold those who wish to hear a trial--
--of a man on charge for murder. He is--
--acquitted, and with his wife leaves the Court smiling after the ordeal. The drama--
--is over. The curtain falls. -- Perhaps for another twenty-six years ?
