IN THE SPRING.

A YOUNG WOMAN'S FANCY.
LIGHTLY TURNS TO THOUGHTS OF -

-Paris-

-- HATS ! This is where we perform the difficult feat of putting ideas into ladies' heads.

C'est tres charmant, cherie,--

--and this is Paris, where the hats come from. Cricketers can learn much from Mademoiselle Devillers, to whom the hat trick comes natural. The chapeau--

--is called 'Sugar and Spice'. It's sweet and tasty.

A broad-brimmed Italian straw model, christened 'Florence'.

The innermost secrets of hat designing are--

--now to be revealed. From the ordinary public--

--this is kept very secret, but what's a secret amongst friends ? Watch the creation grow from odd scraps of silk on the head of a willing victim to one of those quite--

--inexpensive hats - "only six guineas my dear, and such a bargain". Now--

--as soon as the lady closes the vent that-- --will be a hat. It's called the 'Pirate'. It will make some poor devil walk the plank.
