"THE OLD FRIEND".

ANCIENT HOSTELRY TO BE MOVED.
FROM BEVERLEY TO HULL.

Yorkshire-

Picture.:- We will just show you this quaint house before it--
--is pulled down for rebuilding at Hull. It is at Beverley,-- --Yorkshire. It is centuries old, and-- --its name is the--
--"Old Friend". Mr. Francis Trueman--
--was its owner, and Beverley's oldest inhabitant watches stones being marked--
--for preservation. That wall hides a historic leper's-- --hole, in which stricken and-- --shunned men secretly lived and died. At least so legend and old Francis Trueman assert. When the leper's body was--
--discovered it was thrown into this cavern at the bottom--
--of which, it is alleged, runs an underground river.

The very mention of water made Mr. Trueman so dry that we had to save his life. Here's to the "Old Friend".
