

ROUGH RIDING IN YORKSHIRE

MOTORCYCLE GRAND NATIONAL.
RELIABILITY TRIAL.

-Ottley & Ilkley-

Picture. The Ilkley Grand National. Motor-cycle reliability trials! Nearly a-- --hundred riders for this--

--smelling test of what a tiny engine--

--can stand up to, and what a--

--man can sit down to. Norwood Top--

--a nasty down gradient leading to Hunter Stone Moor, and later--

--to the woods. There's one bumped off. Not such a painful process as the original--

--Chicago brand, but bad enough. The track here is just soft, sticky, mud,--

--and it's difficult to avoid a wheel spin. Just coming--

--to Pullan Push, the steepest hill of the course. He's dug himself in. He's not off - - but yes--

--he's off. Another nasty track--

--is Sword Point. This competitor thinks he will get there quicker by walking. Maybe he's--

--right. Oh dear, that's bad enough to rattle any man.

The Ilkley Grand National is well named.
