BRINGING HOME THE CUP.

MANCHESTER CITY'S WELCOME.
VAST CROWDS CHEER TEAM AND TROPHY.

(EFFECTS).

Fog signals giving the Cup Final score were the first welcome the Manchester City Team received on arrival home. After that it was just an hour's roar from a million throats.

It is thirty years since--

--the Cup was seen in Manchester. No wonder everybody is roaring a welcome.

And when you consider that everybody knows the Cup--

--came to them direct from the hands of His Majesty the King,-- well, any pride is justified. "Sam, Sam, hold oop thy scoop!" yells the crowd, and Sam Cowan obliges, from the lofty--

--summit of his triumphal car. In this case a homely 'bus. The wild enthusiasm of the crush--

--of people is amazing. If they re-act like this--

--over one cup, it's a good job there aren't two.

A civic welcome is part of the-- --proceedings, and after that high tea. What a home coming!

And quite rest, and all. Manchester's won scoop!
