Picture.:- The world's most smile-making air freak--

--has met with misfortune. It looks like an insect one might see after looking upon the wine when it was red, very red. This unusual type of helicopter--

--is the proud possessor of two wind-mill propellers. On test the machine--

--rose slowly, descended quickly and crashed. Monsieur Florienne, Belgian pilot-inventor was not hurt.

(2). Picture.The wishing well at Culloden, Scotland. The first--

--Monday in May is the-- --Well's busy day. You come here--

--throw in a coin, take a drink and wish,-- and you may get your wish. But it's no--

--use wishing for your money back because it's a--

--Scottish well, - - well, well. A rag tied to--

--a tree improves your chances. What a rag !

(3). Picture.:- Following up past experiments for rocket mails, Herr Gerhaert Zuker a--

--young inventor has satisfied himself that the time has-- --come for a rocket postal service. Londoners are to be given a chance-- --to see this--

--postal packet pusher at the International Air Post Exhibition. Ain't London lucky ?

(4). Picture.:- The halt, maimed and sick of body and mind start on their pilgrimage --

--to Lourdes. The mission of the 650--

--petitioners is blessed by the Bishop before entering the train.

Forty-nine of the afflicted are-- --carried on stretchers. They will be bathed in the miraculous spring water. We hope their faith may make them whole.
