PICTURESQUE PAGEANTRY IN LONDON.

(EFFECTS).

With the rain trickling down--

--the back of my neck, I have great pleasure in commenting on the Lord'Mayor's--

--Show. My new Lord Mayor of London, Sir Stephen--

--Killiek has not got a fine day for it.

Still, there are some who know how to be happy, though wet ! The usual--

--crowds pack the--

--pavements, refusing to miss the Show, weather or not ! There's a naval detachment from--

--Chatham, followed by a gun and crew of the R.N.V.R, and in the puddle--

--distance is seen Dick Whittington, and his cat. Rather good this !

Richard is seated on a Highgate milestone, looking towards London.

(towards London).

--but really looking at the banners of London's Boys Clubs' Federation.

Here's a fine model of what the 'Queen Mary' will be--

--when ready for service, and a very imposing model it is !

The Dickens Fellowship provides a coachful of well-known--

--characters, with tubby Mr. Pickwick looking not a day thinner. Another Dickens car passes--

--along, with Oliver Twist asking for more.

And after that the next exhibit is Mrs. Jarley's wax-works. Then last,--

--but by no means wettest, comes My Lord Mayor in gilded coach, drawn by the famous team of six white horses.

Sir Stephen Killiek is positively inside that coach.

The day being what it is,--

--you may have to take my word for that. And that's--

--the end of the Show. The first wet one--

--since 1931, but in my water-logged opinion, the wettest ever !
