

THE POLICE REMEMBER.

PARADE AT WESTMINSTER CATHEDRAL.

Picture.:-

The one thing film stars are right about in their opinion that our London Police are wonderful. This Police parade shows their marching precision on the-- --way to Westminster Cathedral. A special service to their--

--police comrades who--

--fell in the War is being held, and many hundreds--

--attend. A feature of the service is the--

--singing of the Requiem Mass. After the impressive commemoration conducted by Monseigneur Canon Howlett,--

--the Force march past the Assistant Police Commissioner Lieutenant-Colonel--

--Laurie, who takes and gives the salute. With the Commissioner are Captain Davidson--

--and Monseigneur Howlett. A curious thing, our-- --cameraman felt he couldn't get this--

--story right without a close 'shot' of the Policemen's feet. It was quite unnecessary--

--because the modern constable's feet are not--

--a joke. That died out when mother-in-laws ceased to be funny. And with Colonel Laurie, we all salute Robert, the staunch upright guardian of the law.
