

NEWS IN BRIEF.

2 850141
2 850141
11/13 2-850141

(1). Picture.

Hammermith, London : A tyre factor's store caught fire--

--in daylight. The smoke caused by the burning--

--rubber plunged part of the-- --district into semi-darkness, and the stench compelled--

--the firemen to use their gas-masks. The flames rose to one-hundred-

--feet in height, but the heroic fire-fighters managed to prevent the blaze from spreading, and no-one was injured.

(2)

But from fire to hospital is an--

--easy transition. At Wrexham, Lady Howard de Waldon receives a bouquet before declaring--

--open the new Nurses' Home of the--

--Wrexham War Memorial Hospital, and opening the-- --door with a golden key. This hospital, like all--

--hospitals, is doing very valuable work in an--

--area which has its full share of distress.

(3)

Moving on to Germany, here is a procession of--

--holiday-makers praying for snow. Men, women--

--and children join in the appeal. However--

--they have come to skate, and skate--

--they will. Rollers and wheels have been requisitioned. Snow--

--shoes and skis have been--

--fitted, so that snow, or no snow, everybody can--

(CONT).

[57259] 2050141
1410302 [9545]
C-120111

(3), --roll along without tears. Which--
--all goes to prove that necessity--
--is still the mother of invention, and where's there's a wall, there's a way.

(4) And where there's a--

--ball, there's a play !

A curious thought. How many games would--

--die if ball-play--

--were forbidden. This pumpkin match (see American slang--
--dictionary) is between two university sides at Chicago.

But this is a game--

--in which there is no shooting The end of the--

--match is celebrated with a--

--cask of beer. It's a great--

--finish --

(5). --and this is a great finish too. The Bremen--

--arrives in port back from--

--her one-hundredth crossing to--

--New York. In July 1929 she made--

--a record run of four days seventeen--

--hours, taking the Blue Riband--

--away from our Maurehanian. But in--

--1950, she was beaten by the 'EUROPA'.