Picture.:- Croydon sees the inauguration of the-- --first British airmail to--
--the Commonwealth of Australia.

The Marquis of Londonderry, Secretary--
--of State for Air, opens the proceedings, and hands to--
--the Postmaster General--
--the first batch of letters, which Sir Kingsley Wood stamps as if to the manner-- --born. After which-- --arduous task they--
--are placed in a silk mail bag. This first-- --mail includes letters sent by--
--Their Majesties the King--
--and Queen and the Prince of Wales.

Australia in twelve--

--days. Britain is beginning to really compete in these air affairs.
